PREAMBLE

In the city of Sibiu, higher education goes back to the 18th century, in the form of a School of Theology (1786). In 1844, a Law Academy was added to the existing theological and pedagogical colleges, founded by the local German population; it functioned up to the year 1887.

A new beginning for the higher education in Sibiu came in 1940, when King Ferdinand University of Cluj found temporary refuge here following the Vienna Dictate, which granted the northern half of Transylvania to Hungary (1940-1945).

In 1969, quarter of a century later, the Faculty of Philology and History was founded in Sibiu, as a branch of Babeş-Bolyai University of Cluj. In 1971, the Faculty of Administrative and Economic Sciences was set up with a unique study programme in Romania. The Faculty of Wood Processing was set up in 1972, as a branch of the University of Braşov.

Following a nation-wide restructuring of Romanian higher education, the academic evolution of Sibiu was consolidated through a complete re-organization and the founding of a third faculty. As a result, the Sibiu Institute of Higher Education was established in 1976; it included the following faculties and specializations: the Faculty of Philology and History (Foreign Languages and Literatures and History); the Faculty of Economic-Administrative Law (Economic-Administrative Law); the Faculty of Mechanical Engineering (Machine-Building Technology).

In the 1980s, the dictatorial regime implemented a policy of dismantling the Faculty of Philology and History as well as the Faculty of Economic-Administrative Law; these two were liquidated by the late '80s. Only the Faculty of Mechanical Engineering survived, renamed the Institute of Sub-Engineers, as the Sibiu branch of the Polytechnical University of Cluj-Napoca.

Following the December 1989 Romanian Revolution, the University of Sibiu was founded by Government Decision no. 225/1990 dated 5 March 1990; at that time, it included five faculties: 1) Letters, History, and Law; 2) Medicine; 3) Textile and Food Processing Technology; 4) Engineering; and 5) Sciences. The University of Sibiu expanded in 1991, when the Theological Institute of Sibiu joined the University as the Faculty of Theology. The same year saw the start of The College for Information Technology.

On 12 May 1995, the University of Sibiu was named after the illustrious Romanian poet and philosopher Lucian Blaga.

Currently, "Lucian Blaga" University of Sibiu has ten Faculties and one College: 1) the Faculty of Theology; 2) the Faculty of Letters and Arts; 3) the Faculty of History and Patrimony; 4) the Faculty of Law; 5) the Faculty of Engineering; 6) the Faculty of Journalism; 7) the Faculty of Medicine; 8) the Faculty of Sciences; 9) the Faculty of Economics; 10) the Faculty of Agriculture, Food Processing, and Environment Protection; and the College of Information Sciences and Technology.

Rector,

Prof. Dr. Eng. Constatin OPREAN

CHAPTER I

GENERAL DISPOSITIONS

Art. 1. Lucian Blaga University of Sibiu is a state institution of higher education, a legal entity, enjoying autonomy under the provisions of the Romanian Constitution, Education Legislation, and the present Charter.

Art. 2. Within the social context of Romania, the identity of Lucian Blaga University is established as follows:

- a) Name: Lucian Blaga University of Sibiu (LBUS);
- b) Flag, emblem, seal, ceremonial garb (gown and cap), as ordered by the University Senate;
- c) Main building: Bd. Victoriei nr. 10, Sibiu 550024, Romania;

CHAPTER III

UNIVERSITY AUTONOMY

Art. 16. Lucian Blaga University of Sibiu operates on the basis of university autonomy, as a genuine self-governing modality, in accordance with the legal framework under the Romanian Constitution, the Education Legislation, the provisions of the present University Charter, as well as internal regulations.

Art. 17. University autonomy consists in the right of the University to govern itself; to enjoy academic freedom, with no ideological, political or religious constraints whatsoever; to exercise a number of competences, duties, and responsibilities, in accordance with the national strategy for the development of Romanian higher education, to follow the mandates of the advancement of science and technology, and the values of Romanian and world culture and civilization.

Art. 18. (1) The autonomy of Lucian Blaga University of Sibiu includes educational and scientific autonomy, organizational and functional autonomy, administrative and financial autonomy, and jurisdictional autonomy.

(2) The legal competences of the University, Faculties, Colleges, Departments, and Research Centres are established by the Senate in accordance with current legislation, the present Charter, and relevant decisions.

(3) Under university autonomy, no representative of a state or any other governmental or non-governmental body can exercise its authority without the consent of the University as represented by the Senate or the Rector.

(4) At the national level, university autonomy is realized in the direct relation extant between the Rector and the Ministry of Education and Research, other ministries and institutions, as well as in the election of University representatives to Romanian professional bodies and organizations, under current legislation.

DIDACTIC AND SCIENTIFIC AUTONOMY

Art. 19. (1) The didactic and scientific autonomy of the University consists in the right:

a) to plan, organize, implement, and constantly improve the educational process according to national and international standards;

b) to select the forms and methods considered the most appropriate for academic and scientific activities, building on the existing academic experience and the available human and material resources;

c) to establish contacts and choose as partners and associates universities, research institutions, corporate bodies or individuals whose competence and prestige warrant their association with LBUS in activities such as programmes and contracts, consultancy, and the creation of new products and technologies, at the national and international level;

d) to publish and disseminate educational, academic and scientific works;

e) to grant honours and awards in acknowledgement of excellence achieved by individuals, groups or institutions, including the right to grant and receive educational, academic and scientific distinctions;

f) to organize Departments, Study Programmes, Faculties, Colleges, Postgraduate and Doctoral Programmes, as provided by law;

g) to set up research centres, laboratories, and teams;

h) to assess research and its results on the basis of its own criteria, and to implement the necessary steps.

(2) LBUS has its own University Press and printing facilities and publishes journals and the Annals of the University, thereby participating in the international exchange of publications.

ORGANIZATIONAL AND FUNCTIONAL AUTONOMY

Art. 20. (1) Organizational and functional autonomy consists in the right of the University

- a) to establish, change and improve its own structures, including executive positions, under existing legislation;
- b) to draw up internal regulations under existing legislation;
- c) to establish and implement principles and criteria for professional assessment for the recognition, promotion and reward of the work of the members of the LBUS community;
- d) to select the teaching staff, researchers, students, auxiliary teaching staff, and non-academic personnel;
- e) to elect executive and management bodies under current legislation; approve teaching loads and personnel rosters in accordance with existing human and financial resources, and the stipulations of the curriculum and current legislation;
- f) to regulate and assess the conduct of the members of the academic community;
- g) to publish academic journals, handbooks, lecture notes, research papers or other material in support of the educational process and scientific research;
- h) to confer didactic and scientific titles under current legislation;
- i) to initiate and carry out, with the approval of the Senate, any other activities compatible with current legislation and international agreements;
- j) to organize scientific, cultural and sports events and activities.

(2) The teaching staff are organized into Departments.

ADMINISTRATIVE AND FINANCIAL AUTONOMY

Art. 21. The administrative and financial autonomy of the University consists in the right:

- a) to organize its own administrative and financial structures and services;
- b) to utilize and administer the available budgetary and financial resources, according to its own priorities and in keeping with its own decisions;
- c) to increase its revenues by carrying out scientific research and other activities;
- d) to set fees and tuition, under current legislation;
- e) to accept legal donations and benefit from sponsorships;
- f) to grant scholarships and make payments;
- g) to administer the buildings and premises and all the estate of the University, according to its own needs;
- h) to orientate investments and new facilities;
- i) to make financial and banking transactions with any partners, according to its own needs;
- j) to organise production units and services generating financial revenues or other types of income, under current legislation.

Art.22 The financial resources of LBUS consist of government allocations, and other sources of income.

Art.23 (1) The non-budgetary sources of income may be: legal fees paid by corporate bodies as well as individuals; revenues coming from trade companies for research, design and production activities, expertise, post-graduate and professional conversion courses, training, expert evaluation, publishing activities, donations, sponsorships, national and international programmes, collaborations etc. The income obtained from the above mentioned sources is financially administered and integrally used within the University, under current legislation.

(2) The LBUS consolidated annual balance sheet is public.

Art.24 Revenues generated independently by Faculties, Colleges, Departments, Research Centres and other structures will be used by these bodies, exception being made for a set percentage that will be used for maintaining and developing the estate of the University. The rate of the percentage is established by the Senate, following a proposal by the Senate Bureau, with the consultation of the Faculties.

JURISDICTIONAL AUTONOMY

Art.25 (1) The jurisdictional autonomy of the University consists in its right to decide the contents and the application of the University Charter, through its executive bodies, as well as in all other matters that fall under its competence, as provided by current legislation.

(2) The legal competences resulting from the jurisdictional autonomy may not be delegated to parties from outside the University.

Art.26 The observance of the competences is guaranteed.

CHAPTER IV

PRINCIPLES OF ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTIONING OF THE UNIVERSITY

Art.27 (1) Lucian Blaga University of Sibiu promotes the principles of democracy and the supremacy of the law, of university autonomy and academic freedom, of the observance of fundamental human rights.

(2) The LBUS community is advised of the decisions of the University Senate and its executive bodies, as well as about the main activities and significant events in the life of the University.

Art.28 (1) The University is open to all Romanian and foreign citizens, without discrimination. Admission to the University is based on competition.

(2) The continued status of members of the academic community is conditioned by the observance of the University regulations.

Art. 29 The educational activity in the University is carried out on the basis of the curricula approved by the Senate. Teaching in LBUS is organized, at the university level, under the form of short term and long term programmes, as well as post-graduate courses.

Art. 30 Teaching activity cannot be dissociated from scientific research. In addition to the educational component, the fundamental criteria for the assessment of the professional activity of all teaching staff will always include a scientific component.

Art. 31 (1) The executive bodies and their members are elected in accordance with the current legislation and internal regulations. The SENATE of the University is the highest executive body.

(2) In all collective executive bodies, students are represented as provided by law.

(3) The decisions of the collective executive bodies are made by the majority vote of the members present, provided there is a 2/3 quorum.

(4) The students' vote is deliberative in all matters that concern them directly.

Art.32 With the approval of the Senate, the University can participate in associations, foundations, alliances of diverse categories of employees and students, provided the bylaws of these bodies are compatible with the provisions of the Romanian Constitution, current legislation and the present Charter.

Art.33 (1) The University premises cannot be used for the activities of political parties, or any other activity of a similar nature.

(2) The academic community as a whole is placed outside political activities and confrontations. The teaching and research activities that are specific to the University are incompatible with any form of political manifestation and proselytism.

(3) Membership in the academic community will not restrict the political activities of its members, as private individuals, outside University premises.

Art.34 The University encourages co-operation with other Romanian and foreign universities that conduct similar or complementary teaching and research activities. It encourages exchange programmes for students and teaching staff, on condition that mutual acknowledgement of competences is present.

Art.35 (1) Students and academic staff are partners in the process of training highly qualified specialists. Student opinion – as expressed by spokespersons or based on accurate surveys – constitutes a modality of feedback, of evaluation and improvement of academic activity.

(2) In the educational process and academic life, student representatives in Faculty Councils and University Senate – as advocates of student opinions – are partners in the decision-making process. All student-related decisions will be made only in the presence of student representatives in the Faculty Councils and University Senate, convened according to the regulation.¹

Art.36 (1) The fair representation of the University's interests and the protection of its prestige are fundamental duties of all members of the academic community.

(2) Willful defamation of LBUS or its representative bodies, on the part of its employees, by public accusations or providing false information, and testified by specialized state organizations, in view of jeopardizing the legitimate interests of the university, shall be sanctioned with termination of work contract, on disciplinary grounds, with the approval of the LBUS Senate.²

Art.37 (1) The results of the educational and scientific activities at Faculties and Departments are made public through annual reports of self-evaluation.

(2) The scientific and teaching activity of the teaching staff and researchers shall be periodically evaluated.

(3) The Senate shall periodically assess the activity of the academic bodies: Faculties, Colleges, Departments, in accordance with the standards provided by the Ministry of Education and Research and by the National Council for Academic Evaluation and Accreditation. It shall also analyze and approve new lines of study and specialization, during the period of accreditation and after the end of the first cycle of activity.

Art.38 (1) The LBUS Senate can confer the honorary degree of "Doctor Honoris Causa" of LBUS and the title of "Honorary Senator" as well as other honorary titles. These titles will be granted to persons with significant contributions to the development of the scientific, technological, cultural, and spiritual life; such academic distinctions may also be granted to prominent personalities of the scientific or public life with an outstanding record of service to the University, in accordance with Regulations governing the terms and conditions for conferring the honorary titles of Doctor Honoris Causa and Honorary Senator of LBUS.

(2) Persons with an outstanding record of service to a Faculty/Faculties may be awarded honorary titles of the respective Faculties: "Honorary Partner of the Faculty", "Honorary Member of the Faculty Council" etc. Proposals for the granting of these titles will be made by a Chair, Department, or collective, and proposals will be validated by the Faculty Council, under current regulations.

Art. 39. (1) The University Senate can confer the title of "Associate Fellow/Professor" to specialists in education, research, planning and production, who support the educational activities, research, and the development and modernization of the University.

(2) The Senate of the University can approve the extension of the teaching activity for retired academic staff on a yearly basis, under current legislation.

Art. 40. Members of the teaching staff can engage in educational, scientific, professional or research activities outside the University, under current legislation, provided these do not conflict with the normal carrying out of their regular duties.

Art. 41. LBUS promotes partnerships with other institutions of higher education in Romania and abroad, with the common goal of asserting our national identity, of promoting Romanian culture, and of developing international academic cooperation.

CHAPTER V

THE STRUCTURE OF "LUCIAN BLAGA" UNIVERSITY OF SIBIU

Art. 42. "Lucian Blaga" University of Sibiu includes Faculties, Colleges, Departments, as well as other functional structures for scientific research, cooperation with other educational and research institutions in Romania and abroad, for documentation, academic publishing etc. LBUS also includes functional structures for the provision of administrative, human resources, financial, accounting, technical, and social services.

Art. 43. (1) The Faculty is the main functional unit of the University and is made up of a number of specialized divisions.

(2) The Faculty is distinguished through its admittance and graduation criteria, its distinct curricula, and its study programmes.

(3) The Faculty includes full-time teaching staff, students, researchers and project designers, auxiliary teaching staff, and non-academic personnel.

(4) The Faculty is organized and functions under the terms of the present Charter, University regulations, and its own regulations.

(5) The Faculty is governed by the Faculty Council, chaired by the Dean; the Council elaborates its regulations to govern the educational and research activities of the Faculty.

Art. 44. (1) A University College is a functional unit of the University which administers short-term (3 years) introductory programmes of study, and which may be accredited and/or authorized.

(2) The College has its own executive structure and is subordinated to the University or to a Faculty. The autonomy of a College is established by its internal regulations, approved by the Senate.

(3) The College is run by a Director, appointed by the Senate.

(4) The Medical College is subordinated to the Faculty of Medicine.

Art. 45. (1) A Department is an academic unit subordinated to the University or, wherever the case, to a Faculty, and it carries out educational, research, design and production activities.

(2) The Department is run by an executive elected under current legislation.

(3) The Department can organize training activities, under University regulations.

(4) Setting up a new Department will be authorized by the Senate.

Art. 46. (1) A Chair is the basic structural unit of the Faculty or, as the case may be, of the Department, and it carries out educational activities and research work. The Chair includes teaching staff and, as the case may be, research, planning/designing or auxiliary personnel, specializing in a specific field or in several related fields. It operates with a mandatory minimum of teaching positions and under current legislation.

(2) The Chair is run by a Board made up of the Chairperson and at least two other members, elected from among the full-time teaching staff of the Chair. Operational management falls within the responsibility of the Chairperson.

(3) The Chair is subordinated to the Faculty, or as the case may be, to the Department.

(4) Changes to the name of a Chair shall be effected by the Senate at the request of the Chair.

(5) Setting up a new Chair will be approved by the Senate at the proposal of the Chair or, as the case may be, of the Department.

Art.47. (1) A Laboratory is a unit under the supervision of Faculties, Departments, Chairs or Research Centres, with facilities and equipment for training programmes of scientific and experimental research.

(2) The setting up of Laboratories falls within the competence of the Department, of the Chair or of the Research Centre.

Art. 48. (1) A Research Centre is a unit whose main objective is scientific research activity, and which has earned its status as a “Centre” by undergoing the relevant evaluation procedures.

(2) LBUS accommodates its own Research Centres as well as Research Centres founded in collaboration with other institutions, under current legislation.

(3) In a Research Centre, the following programmes can be organized, under current legislation: Master programmes, postgraduate studies, doctoral programmes, postgraduate specialization studies, postgraduate training courses, continuous training courses and professional conversion courses.

(4) Research Centres are subordinated to the Senate; they operate and function on the basis of their own financial resources.

Art. 49. (1) The Centre for Technical Expertise, Technological Exchange, Production and Services is a means through which the University offers paid services to customers. This Centre will only function on the basis of self-financing, and by fulfilling its obligations to LBUS.

(2) Approval for the setting up of such Centres falls within the competence of the Senate.

CHAPTER VI

FINAL DISPOSITIONS

Art. 50. The draft of the Charter will be subjected for discussion with a view for final approval to the Bureau of the Senate, Faculty/Department Councils, Chairs, student organizations and trade unions. The Charter is approved by vote of the Senate of LBUS, legally constituted in meeting with full quorum.

Art.51. Proposals for the alteration of the Charter will be made at the initiative of at least three Faculties or at least one third of the members of the Senate and will follow the procedure used for its initial adoption.

Art.52. Based on the Charter, Faculties, Colleges, Departments, Chairs, Research Centres and Administrative Departments will elaborate their own regulations.

Art.53. The present Charter will be effective on approval by the Senate of the University.

Art.54. After approval, the Charter will be translated into English and communicated to partner universities and international higher education associations.

Art.55. The regulations accompanying the present Charter will be drawn up within nine months from its adoption and will constitute the Annex to the Charter. The regulations are approved by the Senate and become operational starting with the next academic year. Pending elaboration and approval of new regulations, current regulations retain their validity, exception being made for provisions that contradict the present Charter.

Art.56. The present Charter became operational as of 25 May 2004, upon its approval by the Senate.

On the same date of 25 May 2004, the Charter of the University adopted by the Senate on 26 February 1996 was abrogated, as were any and all dispositions contrary to the present Charter.
